

Back To School Audiences

Lighthouse List can help you identify Parents of School-Age children and College Bound Teens

According to the National Retail Federation, total back to school spending was expected to reach a record $37.1 billion in 2021 and college students and their families planned to spend more than $1000 on college or university items.

If you're looking to promote products or services to parents of children aged 4-18 or in college education, Lighthouse List can help you reach these high-value Moms and Dads in your multichannel marketing campaigns.
